Question:

What are the characteristics of an effective parent? Please provide specific reasons, details, and examples to support your response.

Parents not only are our first role models in our lives ~~lives~~ but also the most influential persons in creating our personalities. Respecting ~~to~~ the importance ~~e y~~ of these persons it is essential to every society to teach most important features for this roles from the very beginning ~~ging~~ years of the elementary schools to the children of today and the parents of futures. when it comes to this controversial topic, I am strongly of the opinion that being supportive, patient and best friend are the most essential characteristics for every parents.

First and foremost, for everyone from the first day of birth to the day that we live ~~leave~~ our parents are our most significant support ~~ers~~ ive. The first time when ~~which~~ we want to walk, we need a helping hand to rely on. the day we want to go to school we need a one to buy our books and prepare all the conditions to become successful in our studies. More importantly the day we want to go to the university with an expensive tuition and living costs we also need someone to help us to pay the bill. In other words, in every moment of life we need a supportive parent to be our back in every aspect from emotional ones to the financial ones.

In the second place, patience ~~y~~ is the crucial feature to be an effective parent. For example, when I was a teenager I have ~~had~~ some naughty ~~nute~~case friends who were was totally different ~~fishy~~ to our family social class. However, I was insist ~~ent~~ ed on friendship with them and causing so many problem to my fathers. In that situation my father ~~other~~ patience ~~y~~ was a critical trait in my fathers that help ed him to tolerate my insanity ~~childish~~ actions. By ~~with~~ the passage of time very soon I found out that friends s are not appropriate friend for me. Besides, every parent should tolerate some nut ~~childish~~ actions of their child, so having a ~~the~~ patient personality is essential to every parent.

~~The~~ last but not least, being friends s ~~with~~ ~~to~~ the children is not only ~~an~~ ~~is~~ ~~the~~ advantage to the children but also ~~is~~ ~~beneficial~~ to the parents. For instance, when parents play ing-computer games with their juvenile as a friend it gives them more opportunity to advise ce their children not only as a parents but also as a friend. More over, -over, this friendship helps s the parents for at least some hours relate with their inner child and do not thinking think about the hardships of the parenting.

To wrap up, it is essential to teach our children to have to be help each other, be a good friend for each other and be patient with to them selves self because these are the most critical features of an influential parents and this today's children are the tomarows tomorrow's parents.
