

Nowadays many parents are sending their kids abroad to acquire good education. Discuss the advantages and the disadvantages of this trend. Give your own opinion.

Education has always been the most crucial aspect of every child's life from their parents' point of view. Therefore, not only does is sending kids abroad to attain better educationg by their parents is not a new phenomenon, but also has become a modern conventional solution. It is the question of whether it is an appropriate avenue to achieve good education or not?

Although some maintain that it does not ne matter what would be the consequences of sending their children to a foreign country. They belive that it would be useful for them. However, there are others who believe that the downsides of this matter outnumber are-much more than its upsides. Gaining a higher level of knowledge and learning by no means can be ignored as a best reward for those who did such a significant job. Furthermore, having a high degree in education could bring a better job situation and good income to follow.

In contrast, in the other group's' opinion, losing their there family relationships, getting some psychological problems and swerving/deviating from the main purpose which is learning can be mentioned as the principal concerns of them for sending their children abroad. They have the notion that if they try to provide proper facilities for their offspring they can attain the same goal in a much more secure way.

From my point of view, sending kids abroad for any purpose relies on the personal characteristicss of each kid which can be revealed by some psychological assessments, ; thus, it would be more logical for parents to take this affair more seriously and try to predict the problems that their children may encounter because it is their duty to protect them from any unpredictable difficulty.
